

Nikolaos Papacharalampous is an economics teacher in secondary level of education, holding a PhD and an MBA in Business Administration from the University of Patras.

Since 2021, he has been a Tutor (SEP) at the School of Social Sciences of the Hellenic Open University, where he teaches the course "Bidding and Organization of Sports Events" in the MSc Sports Management program.

In parallel, he delivers lectures in postgraduate programs at the University of Patras, teaching courses such as "Principles of Corporate Governance and Social Responsibility" in the MSc Accounting in the Contemporary Business Environment (Department of Business Administration) and "Event Management" in the MSc Tourism Destination & Business Management (Department of Tourism Management).

For several years, he was a research associate at the University of Patras, participating in international Erasmus+ research projects on education, training, youth, sports, social inclusion, green and digital transition, and the promotion of youth participation in democratic life. As part of these initiatives, he has contributed to the development of educational materials and tools for European projects such as ArtCRelief, INITIATION, GoGreen, SeDiHUB, and many others.

Alongside his academic and research experience, he has worked in the private sector, holding managerial positions and specialized roles in Marketing, Sports Sponsorships, and Corporate Social Responsibility. He also has experience in customer support, commercial activities, and sales.

His research work has been presented at international and Greek conferences, and his articles have been published in esteemed academic journals such as Human Resource Development Quarterly and Journal of Business & Industrial Marketing. Since 2017, he has been actively involved as a coordinator of educational programs at the International Olympic Academy, training postgraduate students and young ambassadors of the Olympic Movement.

LinkedIn: Nikolaos Papacharalampous